TRAIN men on the P., D. & E. railroad complain about being run too hard. The heavy business of the road causes many extra runs, and although they get pay for extra work, there is a limit to human endurance. This is a matter in which all railroad managers are so careful as they should be. An overworked employe sometimes causes an accident which a fresh man would prevent. — *Matthieu Jour-

"HONEST" John Hockingberry and a boy named Cussins made an unsuccessful effort last night to see the play of "Photos" at the opera house without paying down the admission fee. They had no money, and so one or both went to Meyer & Son's pawn shop, got a ladder, and bore it to the opera house, a block distant. With this ladder the show-stroke couple endeavored to reach one of the windows opening into the gallery, through which they hoped to enter; but they were thwarted in their little game by Officer Mason, who promptly arrested the twain and marched them down to the city education. John was searched but he didn't have even a copper in his pockets. The prisoners were locked up in the cooler.
They will be brought out this afternoon, and answer to a charge of disorderly conduct, and each will be fined "not less than $3.00 nor more than $10." It is not probable that a charge of larceny will be preferred against them.

A NARROW ESCAPE.

Dr. E. W. Moore Thrown from His Buggy Against a Tree and Injured.

This forenoon at about 9 o'clock what might have proved a fatal accident occurred on East Eldorado street, near Stapp's Chapel. Dr. E. W. Moore, who was seated in his covered buggy, and driving his rather spirited 10-year-old mare, was going to visit a patient in the fifth ward. The buggy seemed to be in good shape, but the street was frozen and rough, and when in front of the chapel the forward axle of the buggy broke, and the jar which followed so frightened the mare that she plunged forward with a jump and ran at full speed against a tree in front of Mr. James W. Haworth's residence. When the buggy struck the tree, Dr. Moore, whose state of mind at that moment can better be imagined than described, was thrown out of his seat against the tree with great force. The collision caused the harness to break and the mare ran about 100 yards from the tree and stopped. Fortunately the highly esteemed physician was not very seriously hurt.
He received two deep bruises, one on his upper lip and one on his chin. He struck the tree with his right shoulder and breast, but no bones were broken though the jar was quite severe. The doctor's hickory cane which he had with him was broken, and his right glove was torn. After the excitement which the incident occasioned had subsided, Dr. Moore was assisted into an express wagon and brought to his office, where he soon partially recovered from the shock and began attending to his office duties. A reporter called upon him at 11 o'clock and found him in good spirits, and exceedingly thankful that he escaped as well as he did.

The doctor's position as the mare went dashing along the rough street, was indeed a critical one, and it seems a miracle that he got out of that broken buggy alive. Several years ago Dr. Moore, it will be remembered, was thrown out of his buggy. He then received an injury to one of his hips which has made him a cripple for life, though with the aid of a stout cane he experiences little difficulty in walking.

HERE'S another banter for the Decatur Rescue hose running team, but the amount as now fixed is hardly worth noticing. State Secretary Housum informs us that he has received official notice of a grand fireman's tournament to be held at Muscatine, Iowa, on June 12th to 16th, inclusive, and he is also in receipt of a pressing invitation from the fire chief of the department there, Col. Joseph Morris-son, for the Rescuers to attend. The sweepstakes hose prize—open to the world—is $600; sweepstakes hook and ladder prize, $250. A clipping from a Muscatine paper states that special sweepstakes prizes will be offered, which will swell that prize to about $1200. Our boys, who form the best hose team in the state, will think the matter over. The Rescuers now have $700 in cash in the treasury, and property valued at $1700.
They can afford to take time to consider.

THE musical eccentricity, "Photos," in two acts and a 100 scenes more or less, was presented at the opera house for the second time in Decatur before a large and well-pleased audience by the Harrison and their excellent support. The play—if such it can be called—is a great mixture of fun and music and roaring laughs, all of which kept the audience applauding and calling for more. Louis Harrison and his sister, Alice Harrison, are the stars and the life of the company, and when they gave their specialty performance they were called out again and again.
If anything there was too much fun, and not a few left the hall feeling that they had received more than their money's worth. The company will appear in "Photos" at Lincoln to-night, under the management of Manager Haines.

Is the circuit court this morning the finest assessed against J. C. Davis by Judge Smith footed up $1000, to which was also annexed a sentence of 20 days imprisonment in the county jail.
Under the law the building known as "Idolwood" is closed forever against the future management of Mrs. Davis. It has gone the way of the old Welber beer hall.

A TRAVELING show on Merchant street is attracting some attention. It is the great mystery.

THE Eldorado Fair and Festival.
All the ladies of Decatur interested in the matter are requested to meet in the council room at the city hall on Saturday, Feb. 4th, at 2 p. m., and assist in making arrangements for the fair and festival, to be given at the tabernacle on Feb. 17th and 18th, under the auspices and for the benefit of Eldorado Hose Co. No. 2. On Saturday afternoon final arrangements will be made for the fair, and all the ladies are urged to be present, without fail, at 2 p. m.

A Tailor at Rent!
The Bloomington Pantagraph, of Jan.
31st contained the following notice of the funeral of a late citizen of Decatur, whose death here was chronicled in these columns Saturday last:

The body of William Cyphers, of Decatur, formerly of this city, was interred in the cemetery yesterday beside his little child. He leaves a wife and two grown sons. He lived here 15 years ago, and worked as a tailor for Mr. Hyde. The body was brought on the morning passenger to the Central, and Mr. J. J. Young, the West Washington street grocer, a former Methodist minister, conducted the services at the grave. The widow's home will be in Decatur.

The deceased was once a member of the Decatur Lodge of Good Templars.

It Was a False Alarm.

The rather startling report reached Decatur on Tuesday that Miss Ella Clough, the accomplished daughter of Mr. J. T. Clough, whose residence is near Harrisstown, in Illini township, was at her home afflicted with the smallpox. A reporter of the REPUBLICAN learned from reliable sources that there is no truth in the report. Miss Clough has lately been afflicted with the measles, but she has recovered and is now up and around, nearly as well as ever. The report was started by somebody at Harrisstown, who on speaking of Miss Clough's illness, said he understood she had the varioloid or smallpox. We are assured on the best authority that such is not the case, and we take pleasure in making this correction. Miss Clough has lately attended the Illinois Industrial University at Champaign. Her age is about 19.

The Methodist Meetings.
The union revival services in progress at the First M. E. Church this week, are being very largely attended, not only by members of the congregation and Stapp-Chapel, but by people from all quarters of the city. The meeting last evening was one of unusual interest. The ministers present were Dr. Davies, Dr. Buck, Rev. Dimmitt, a visiting clergyman and Rev. Musgrave, the latter preaching a logical and moving sermon. Nearly every chair in the lecture room, where the meetings are held, was occupied. Several persons were at the altar, and there was one conversion. An experience meeting was held at the close of the service.
To-night either Dr. Davies or Rev. Dimmitt will preach. Everybody is invited to be present this evening.

THE CIRCUIT COURTS.

Assignments Made for Holding Terms of Court in this Judicial Circuit

Judges Smith, Wilkin and Davis, by previous arrangement, met at the Leland hotel at Springfield Tuesday evening, and made the following assignments for holding the terms of the circuit courts in this (the 7th) judicial circuit for the ensuing year:

Judge Smith will hold the spring and fall terms in Piatt, Champaign and Macon counties. He will hold the April term in Coles county, and the November term in Monticue county.

Judge Wilkin will hold the February, May and October terms in Vermilion county; the September term in Edgar county; the March and September terms in Clark county; the November term in Coles, and the April term in Monticue county.

Judge Davis will hold the March term in Edgar county and the October term in Douglas county. The balance of Judge Davis' time will be occupied in presiding at the terms of the appellate court, which are held at Springfield.

PERSONAL MENTION.

C. A. Pollock, of Danville, is in the city.
Sheriff Foster and Constable Paris are home from Joliet.

Fred. Norman will leave for Chicago this week to purchase machinery for his new steam laundry.

Supervisor Hoyt, of Harrisstown, paid us a call yesterday. He says there are no smallpox cases in his part of the county.
Judges Smith and Wilkin, who visited Springfield last evening, arrived in the city this morning. Judge Wilkin left this forenoon for his home at Marshall, a town of 2000 inhabitants, 16 miles from Terre Haute.

Otto E. Curtis made a flying trip east.
He left Decatur last Wednesday and went direct to New York, spending two full days in that city attending to business matters, and arriving home on Monday last.

Charles P. Housum will leave for the west next week on a protracted business tour in the interest of H. W. Hill & Co.— He will call on about all the fire boys on his route and make notes of fresh stories as he goes from town to town.

MR. C. C. CLARK, of the law firm of Eden & Clark, informs us that he has been successful in leasing the room over J. Millikin & Co's bank, now occupied by Gorn & Bills. Mr. Clark will take full possession about a month hence, and Gorn & Bills will occupy a ground floor room in some part of the city.

Charles Bottenheim, the retired bread-was grocer, will probably not leave for Germany until the latter part of April.
He is looking forward to his trip to the old country with bright anticipations of a pleasant voyage across the broad Atlantic and a jolly good time among his old friends in "Old Fatherland."

Charles B. Pence is now a fireman on the St. Louis Division of the Western, and is making good wages. He says his wife, who was shot at and who was the cause of the racket in the 5th ward sometime ago, has gone to the bed. He says she left Decatur on Jan. 11th, and he believes she is now an inmate of a disreputable house at Springfield.

Fortunes for the Mechanic.
Thousands of dollars can be saved by using proper judgment in taking care of the health of yourself and family. If you are bilious, have yellow complexion, poor appetite, low and depressed spirits, and generally debilitated, do not delay a moment, but go at once and procure a bottle of those wonderful Electric Bitters, which never fail to cure, and that for the trifling sum of fifty cents—Trudeau. Sold by Hubbard & Swearingen.

The Daily Republican.

DECATUR, ILL., FEBRUARY 1, 1922.

INTENSELY UTTER.

Effect of Culture on an Aesthetic Daughter and a Superstitious Practical Pa.

A few months ago the daughter of a Rockland man, who had grown comfortably well off in the small grocery line, was sent away to a "female college," and last week she arrived home for the holiday vacation. The old man was in attendance at the depot when the train arrived, with the old horse in the delivery wagon to convey his daughter and her trunk to the house. When the train had stopped, a bewitching array of dry goods and wide-brimmed hat dashed from the car and flung itself into the elderly party's arms.

"Why, you superlative pa!" she exclaimed. "I'm so utterly glad to see you."

The old man was somewhat unnerved by the greeting, but he recognized the seal skin cloak in his grip as the identical piece of property he had paid for with the bay mare, and he set of aquat it up in his arms and planted a kiss where it would do the most good, with a report that sounded about ten miles beyond Warren, content in the light of a symphony, or even at a single poem, and appear as intensely utter to one returning home as one could express.

The old man twisted uneasily in his seat and muttered something about he believed it used to be used for an express wagon before he bought it to deliver pork in, but the conversation appeared to be traveling in such a lonesome direction that he fetched the horse a resounding crack on the rump, and the severe jolting on the frozen ground prevented further remarks.

"Oh, there is that lovely and consummate man!" exclaimed the returned collegian as she drew up at the door, and presently she was lost in the embrace of a motherly woman in spectacles.

"Well, Maria," said the old man at the supper table, as he slipped a piece of butter off the hump with his own knife, "and how do you like your school?"

"Well, here, now, you're short!" I mean, I consider it far too beyond," replied the daughter. "It is unbecomingly inefficient. The girls are so astoundingly stunning—I mean grand—so exquisite—so intense. And then the parties, the balls, the rides—Oh, the past weeks have been one sublime harmony."

"I suppose so," I suppose," nervously assented the old man, as he reached for his third cup, "half full," "but how about your looks—reading, writing, grammar, rule of three—how about them?"

"Oh, don't," exclaimed the daughter reproachfully; "the rule of three! grammar! It is French and music and painting and the divine art that has made my school life the best—I mean that have rendered it one unbroken flow of rhythmic things—so incomparably and exquisitely all but."

The grocery man and his wife looked helplessly at each other across the table. After a lonesome pause the old lady said:

"How do you like the biscuits, Maria?"

"They are too tender for anything," gushed the accomplished young lady, "and this plum preserve is simply a poem in itself."

The old man abruptly rose from the table and went out of the room, rubbing his head in a dazed and benumbed manner, and the mass convention was dissolved. That night he and his wife sat alone by the stove until a late hour, and at the breakfast table the next morning he rapped smartly on his plate with the handle of his knife, and remarked:

"Maria—me and your mother have been talking this thing over, and we have come to the conclusion that this boarding school business is too utterly all but too much nonsense. Me and her consider that we haven't lived sixty odd consummate years for the purpose of raising a curiosity, and there's going to be a stop put to this unbecomingly foolishness. Now after you've finished eatin' that poem of fried sausage and that symphony of twisted doughnut, you take an' dust up stairs, in less than two seconds, an' peel off that fancy gown, an' put on a calico, an' then come down here an' help your mother wash dishes. I want it distinctly understood that there ain't going to be no rhythmic foolishness in this house, so long as your superlative pa and your lovely an' consummate ma are running the ranch. You hear me, Maria?"

Maria was listening—Rockland Courier.

Position of the Body in Sleeping.

Position affects sleep. A constrained or uncomfortable posture will often prevent repose. Lying flat on one's back with the limbs relaxed would seem to secure the greatest amount of rest to the muscular system. This is the position assumed in the most exhausting diseases, and it is generally hailed as a token of revival when a patient voluntarily turns upon his side; but there are several disadvantages in the supine posture which impair or embarrass the heart and blood vessels, and in certain morbid conditions of the brain, the blood seems to gravitate to the back of the head and produce troublesome dreams. In persons who habitually stoop in their gait or work there is probably some distress consequent on straightening the spine. Those who have contracted chests, especially persons who have pleurisy and retain adhesions of the lungs, do not sleep well on the back. Nearly all who are inclined to snore do so when in that position, because the soft palate and uvula hang on the tongue, and that organ falls back so as to partially close the top of the windpipe. It is better, therefore, to be on the side, and in the absence of special chest disease, rendering it desirable to lie on the weak side, leaving the healthy lung free to expand, it is well to choose the right side, because when the body is thus placed, the feet gravitate more easily out of the stomach into the intestines. A glance at any plate of the visceral anatomy will show how this must be. Many persons are dead in one ear and prefer to lie on a particular side; but, if possible, the right side should be chosen and the body rolled a little forward, so that any saliva which may be secreted shall run easily out of the mouth if not unconsciously swallowed. Again, sleeping with the arm thrown over the head is to be deprecated; but this position is often assumed during sleep, circulation is then free in the extremities and the head and neck, and thus the expansion of the thorax is easy. The chief objection to this position is that it creates a tendency to creep and cold in the arms, and sometimes seems to cause headache during sleep, and dreams. These small matters often make or mar happiness in sleeping.

Warnings to the Vaccinated.

In these days of vaccination, when points are in general demand, it will not be amiss to remember the following: Don't pick your nose with the finger that has shortly before been in contact with the vaccine matter. A man in a neighboring village acted contrary to this rule, and as a result the matter took kindly to his nose, made the acquaintance of the membrum, spread all through his head, and he is now just able to leave his bed after a confinement of more than two weeks. A Glen's Falls lady scratched the bit of an insect on her foot with the fingers that had been toyed with her vaccinated arm. The following day her foot swelled. She was crippled for a month, and pinned away for the monthlong prospect of wearing a No. 11 shoe for the remainder of her days, but she finally recovered. These he practical points on vaccine points, and will bear the caution they point out.

We have everything in our line: low shoes, high shoes, big shoes, little shoes, broad shoes, narrow shoes, fine shoes or coarse shoes, and if you want any other kind of a shoe we will order it for you. We make to please. Call and see us.
